WELCOME

The American Academy of Orthotists and Prosthetists (AAOP) stands as the foremost center for education, clinical practice resources, and expertise within the orthotics and prosthetics (O&P) industry. We are dedicated to providing the profession with unparalleled resources, continuous educational opportunities, and a strong commitment to advancing clinical research. Our primary objective is to enhance professional expertise and increase awareness across the O&P community.

We invite manufacturers in orthotics and prosthetics to collaborate with us in initiatives that support mutual growth. Engage with us throughout the year and during our Annual Meeting and Scientific Symposium to maximize opportunities for connection and development.

This Media Kit offers an overview of the various engagement opportunities available throughout the year, including during our Annual Meeting. For more information, please visit our Corporate Engagement website. All transactions will be processed through your vendor portal, and your cumulative spending for the year will determine your Partnership status with the Academy.

We look forward to collaborating with you to engage the O&P community!

My best,

Kate Feuling
