Alabama Association of School Personnel Administrators Awarded Affiliate Excellence Award

OVERLAND PARK, Kan. – December 1, 2022 — The Alabama Association of School Personnel Administrators, located in Montgomery, AL., was awarded the Arch S. Brown Affiliate Excellence Award by the American Association of School Personnel Administrators for 2021-2022. The announcement came on October 11, 2022 at AASPA’s Annual Conference.

Serving nearly 200 state school system leaders, the Alabama Association of School Personnel Administrators provides leadership in promoting effective human resource practices within education through professional development activities and a broad-based resource network.

“AASPA can only be as strong as our State Affiliate Organizations, who work closely with us to align state professional development offerings to match those of the national association. Our State Affiliates are AASPA’s closest partners in achieving our mission of providing support and advocacy for our membership and the students they serve” said AASPA Executive Director, Kelly Coash-Johnson.

The Arch S. Brown Awards are given on the basis of affiliate activities in these areas: communication with members, legislative leadership/policy influence, member participation and professional development activities (affiliate conferences, special projects, cooperative activities) and other contributions. Points are awarded to each entry, and the winning entry is determined on the basis of the highest number of points given. Please note nominations for this award require use of nomination and supplemental forms along with three letters of reference.
