

ASSOCIATION FOR THE STUDY OF HIGHER EDUCATION

ASHE
ANNUAL MEETING PROGRAM

Sheraton Inner Harbor Hotel
Baltimore, Maryland
November 21-24, 1987

TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY

Department of Educational Administration College Station, Texas 77843

Dear Colleagues:

On behalf of ASHE, I am delighted to welcome you to our annual meeting in Baltimore. One of the most well-kept secrets in the U.S., Baltimore provides a splendid setting for enjoying the traditional collegueship we all look forward to at ASHE meetings.

Our 1987 meeting builds on the successful plan for our stand-alone meeting earlier this year, and it adds some dimensions of real interest. As usual, you will be challenged to participate in a substantive conference with your colleagues in the study of Higher Education. Judith Hackman and her program committee have lined up a series of challenging speakers, including John Brademas, Janet Hansen, Harvey Averch, Clifford Adelman, Gordon Davies, and Albert Spruill—all of whom promise to stretch our thinking beyond the customary limits.

Join us for an evening at the National Aquarium in Baltimore, for the ASHE Bash, and for early morning jogging and walking around the Inner bor.

In addition to our formal sessions, we have left time for focused dialogues and informal discussion—something that has become traditional for ASHE members, and that we know you value as highly as any other part of the program.

It has been my pleasure and my honor to serve the Association as its President, so much so that I have agreed to stay on another year as ASHE makes the transition from a spring to a fall conference. I look forward to another year of serving you.

Welcome to ASHE. Bon Appetit.
Sincerely,

Clifton F. Conrad
President
