

Report of the Sixty-first General Meeting of the Catholic Biblical Association of America

Sessions on Monday, August 10

The morning began with a memorial Mass for members of the association who have died during the past year, including Raymond E. Brown, S.S., former president of the association, who died suddenly in California on Saturday, August 8.

The task forces and continuing seminars resumed their work after the memorial Mass. Two simultaneous sessions then heard presentations by Michael P. Dick, "*Apolo-gia Babylonica: An Iconodule's Defense of the Making of the Cult Image Against Deutero-Isaiah (the Mīs Pī Ritual)*"; and John R. Donahue, S.J., "Mark 7 and the Setting of the Gospel."

Joan E. Cook, S.C., presided at our midday Service of the Word.

The general session in the afternoon listened to a panel discussion on "Recently Published Texts of the Dead Sea Scrolls." The moderator was Wendy J. Cotter, C.S.J., and the panelists were Daniel J. Harrington, S.J., Anthony J. Saldarini, and Harold W. Attridge, Jr.

Donald P. Senior, C.P., president of the CBA, called the annual business meeting to order at 4:05 P.M. Emil Wcela gave the report of the chair of the board of trustees on the healthy financial situation of the association. In accord with a policy announced in the past, the board has begun the process of placing up to ten percent of our investments in special projects that promote economic justice and positive social change. Lawrence E. Boadt, C.S.P., treasurer of the association, then presented the treasurer's report, the substance of which had been previously distributed to the members present.

Joseph Jensen, O.S.B., gave the report of the executive secretary. He thanked those who had contributed to the success of this year's meeting, in particular the local arrangements committee and its chair for the smooth running of the meeting. The executive board approved or reaffirmed the following grants: (a) $30,000 for ten memorial stipends; (b) $20,000 for two young scholars' fellowships; (c) $20,000 plus travel expenses for the visiting professorships at the Pontifical Biblical Institute and the Ecole Biblique; (d) $6,000 for three archaeological research stipends; (e) $17,500 for the archaeological project at Tell Qarqur; (f) $17,000 for the dig at Tell Mozan; (g) $2,000 for the Japanese translation project of the Studium Biblicum Franciscanum; (h) a tithe of membership dues for famine relief; (i) $10,000 to the Ecole Biblique in Jerusalem toward the renovation of their library; (j) $5,000 to the Dead Sea Scrolls Foundation; (k) $3,000 in travel grants for third world scholars to attend the CBA meeting; (l) $5,000 to the Pontifical Biblical Institute in Jerusalem toward the renovation of their museum.

The board also voted to continue to supply the Religious Studies Review to members of the association because of the advantageous price the association can get by buying the subscriptions in bulk. Jensen also reminded the association that the program committee has the authority to invite a scholar from the developing world to present a major paper at the annual meeting and to cover that scholar's expenses if necessary. Any member who would like to recommend someone for this grant should contact the chair of the program committee. In view of the healthy financial situation of the association, the executive board has begun developing a program of CBA scholarships. In principle, the association will fund one scholarship to each of three Catholic institutions; monies will be given to the institutions, which will award them to the individuals. A committee has been appointed to determine the institutions at which these scholarships will be established. The institution must offer a doctorate in biblical studies, with language and course requirements similar to those of the S.S.L. at the Pontifical Biblical Institute (since the S.S.L. or equivalent is the requirement for active membership in the CBA). The institution should not already enjoy generous financial endowments, but its resources should be adequate to the biblical studies program it offers. Details of the scholarship grant itself have not been fully worked out, but it will be renewable, perhaps for up to five years. The board elected Brigid Curtin Frein to the board of trustees, appointed Donald H. Wimmer to the archaeology committee, and proposed Richard J. Clifford, S.J., for the committee on nominations.

Jensen reminded the members that the 1999 meeting will be at the University of Notre Dame, Notre Dame, Indiana; the dates will be August 7–10. The meeting in the year 2000 will be at Loyola Marymount University, Los Angeles, August 5–8. The board has decided to change the name of the annual meeting to the “International Meeting of the Catholic Biblical Association of America” to reflect the growing participation of scholars from across the globe. The OT revision of the NAB is continuing satisfactorily; the revisions of the majority of the OT books have been received, many have been reviewed in full by the committee, others are in the process of review. Jensen also reported that the cycle A lectionary is scheduled to be available from several publishers this fall. Finally, Jensen mentioned that the CBA website has a new address: <http://www.cua.edu/students/org/cbib>.

Aelred Cody, O.S.B., gave the report of the editor of the CBQ. By the end of the current volume, CBQ will have published approximately 26 articles. Sixty-two articles were received in twelve months. Of these, 14 have been accepted, 31 rejected, 15 are in process, and 2 have been withdrawn. By the end of the current volume, CBQ will have published approximately 252 reviews covering 259 books.

In the absence of Christopher T. Begg, Joseph Jensen, O.S.B., gave the report of the editor of OTA. Both the February and June issues of 1998 have appeared, and the October issue is at the printer's. In the first two issues of the year 990 article abstracts and 201 book abstracts by approximately 120 abstracters have been published. In 1998 fourteen new journals were added, bringing the total number of journals abstracted to about 350. The American Theological Library Association has announced that it will have all issues of OTA, beginning from issue 1, on CD-ROM by April 1999. The collection will use MARC coding of diacriticals for the time being, but eventually this will be changed to Unicode.

Michael L. Barré, S.S., gave the report of the editor of CBQMS. In the last year, one manuscript has appeared in print, another is in press, two have been accepted pending revisions, and others are in various stages of preparation.
