Why Attend?

Regulatory expectations for BSA (now AML/CFT) continue to remain high, and banks have to react appropriately. This conference will discuss many “need-to-know” issues for the BSA/AML professional. Each topic will be considered in depth, with an emphasis on practical approaches. Attendee participation is encouraged. This program helps to keep BSA personnel informed of industry trends, regulatory focuses, and other information relevant to the BSA professional.

CONFERENCE HIGHLIGHTS

Designed for experienced BSA personnel, the program highlights current industry trends, regulatory priorities, and key developments drawn from recent public pronouncements. Even if the new BSA/AML/CFT regulation is not final by the seminar date, we will review the latest known guidance on risk assessments, using the Exam Manual and other available resources.

The class also includes case studies and findings from Young & Associates, Inc. based on issues identified in recent reviews. Attendees will have the opportunity to submit questions and topic suggestions in advance, and the session will close with a discussion built around those selected subjects.

BSA/AML/CFT Regulatory Update

A review of recent regulatory pronouncements on major BSA topics, along with discussion on how these changes affect your institution.

Improving Your Risk Assessment

A detailed look at risk assessment expectations under the developing BSA/AML/CFT framework, using the most current information available at the time of the seminar.

BSA Exam Manual

An overview of sections that are often overlooked, and how gaps in these areas can lead to deficiencies.

Open Discussion: Compliance Challenges

An interactive session where attendees can share recent exam experiences and “war stories.” Presenters will answer questions asked live or submitted beforehand, creating a practical dialogue focused on real challenges.

CONFERENCE DETAILS

Who Should Attend?

This conference is ideally suited to employees with BSA/AML/CFT responsibilities who have a basic understanding of anti-money laundering laws and regulations, including BSA officers, compliance officers, auditors, head tellers, and risk managers. It is designed for BSA professionals (the basic requirements of the regulation will not be discussed), however this program could benefit others with BSA responsibilities.
