

Phil Scrivano

Mr. Phil Scrivano served as an educator for over thirty years starting out as a sixth-grade teacher and pursuing a career in technology leadership. He joined CETPA, now CITE, in 1995 and recently served on the board of directors for ten years. When he worked for the State's Fiscal Crisis and Management Assistance Team, FCMAT he observed how the CASBO organization raised the professionalism of Chief Business Officers by offering CBO certification training. Phil brought this idea of offering a Chief Technology Officer certification training to the then CETPA board of directors. This gave the CETPA Board the catalyst for hiring the first full time CETPA employee, Andrea Bennett, to serve as executive director and facilitate the creation of the CTO Mentor program. Phil now resides in McCall Idaho where he works half time providing small school district technology leadership and pursuing his many outdoor passions of off-road motorcycling, hiking, and sailboat racing. The picture background is the view from his dining room table.