CALL FOR ARTS TEAM LEADERS

The Advanced Research Training Seminar (ARTS) is currently looking for six engaged postdoctoral or early career researchers in psychology to become team leaders for ARTS 2022-2023.

WHAT IS ARTS?
The ARTS involves capacity-building workshops that in principle take place every four years in conjunction with the International Congresses of Applied Psychology (ICAP). ARTS promotes excellence in research skills and facilitates exchange and dialogue amongst early-career scientists. ARTS is organized by the International Association of Applied Psychology (IAAP).

HOW DOES ARTS WORK?
ARTS has several components:

1. Research – Team leaders define and lead the research projects. ARTS participants work on one of these projects with their team leader and peers in groups of three to five people.
2. Feedback – Participants will also have the opportunity to present their own research through an oral presentation (or poster) and receive feedback from their peers, team leaders and the ARTS committee.
3. *Presentation*s – Teams will present their team project at the symposium organized by IAAP and will have the opportunity to receive feedback from renowned experts.

TEAM LEADER RESPONSIBILITIES
- Formulate a research project that your team will work on
- Guide your team through this project
- Facilitate team interactions and coordinate team activities (e.g., meetings) throughout your research project
- Provide your team members with support and feedback on their work
- Aim to prepare and submit a research article about your team's research project
- Commit to (approximately) a 9-month project starting in Autumn 2022

BENEFITS
- Collaborate on a research topic of your interest
- Network and work with peers from around the world
- Gain experience working in a leadership and supervisory role
- Potential for academic outputs (e.g., research articles) in your field of research
- Meet leading scholars and renowned experts
- Free participation to ARTS
- Free accommodation and meals during the ARTS meeting in London from the 29th of June 2023 to the 2nd of July 2023
- Possibility to apply for a travel bursary
- IAAP one-year membership

COVID-19

Although the current format of the meeting in London is face-to-face, ARTS 2022-2023 may experience attendance mode changes (e.g., moving online or hybrid) due to the COVID-19 situation in Spring/Summer 2023. Your eligibility will not be affected by your country or UK's COVID-19 travel policies and we will aim to accommodate any attendance difficulties due to national COVID-19 restrictions.

HOW TO APPLY

To apply for the position of ARTS Team Leader, you must be:

- A postdoctoral/Ph.D. student about to graduate or an early career academic specializing in any sub-discipline or research field of applied psychology
- Able to commit to an approximately 9-month-long project
- Be willing to travel to and attend the ARTS 2022-2023 Program in London from the 29th of June 2023 to the 2nd of July 2023

Please click here (https://bit.ly/3J91kub) to apply. The application should be accompanied with the following documents:

- Cover letter with a statement of how the ARTS program relates to your career objectives
- CV/Resume
- Brief description of the research project you are proposing (about 500 words)

Please send all your document to this email: zhesson2021@my.fit.edu
Subject line: ARTS Application 2023_Your Name

Deadline for submitting applications is July 28, 2022.
Acceptances and rejections will be sent out shortly after the deadline.