Become a White Paper Author

Do you have an academic journal publication with practice-oriented information that you'd like to share with a wider audience? Are you interested in writing a short research-based paper that includes implications for practice? If the answer to either of these questions is yes, then consider contributing to the peer-reviewed SIOPI White Paper series.

The International Affairs Committee (IAC) seeks to expand Industrial-Organizational research to experiences in the rest of the world– and to achieve this goal invites white papers on global and international topics, such as cross-culture training, global leadership, and work motivation. Papers about cross-cultural perspectives, including Asia, Africa, and Latin America are especially encouraged.

White papers are limited to 4-6 pages of the essential background information and impactful current research that managers and human resource practitioners ABSOLUTELY need to know to resolve their organizational challenges. Authors do not need to be SIOPI members or I-O psychologists in order to submit.

If you are interested, you can do any of the below actions and send it to us via email (mdelaflor3@gmail.com) to include it in our list.

- Write a proposal
- Submit a paper
- Recommend a topic
- Suggest an author

Submissions are accepted on a rolling basis.
The first set of reviews will be in January 18, 2023.
