

2026 ILADS European Scientific Conference

Lyme and Beyond: Strategies for Complex Multi-System Disorders

April 16-18, 2026
London, UK

Hilton London Heathrow Airport

ILADS is an international medical society dedicated to the appropriate diagnosis and treatment of Lyme and associated diseases. The ILADS European Scientific Conference brings together doctors and medical professionals to learn about emerging treatments and strategies to help diagnose and treat vector-borne illnesses in their everyday clinical practices.

Join us in April in London for three days of educational content and clinical discussions on the latest developments and treatments for Lyme and tick-borne illnesses.

Highlights include:

- Half day presentation of ILADS European Vector-Borne Illness Fundamentals
- Networking opportunities with physician leaders from around the globe
- Vendors showcasing supportive services
- Continuing Medical Education credit available
