

Capt. Chris Wittman

Captain Chris Wittman is a career outdoorsman, spending over 20 years as a fishing and hunting guide, nationally renowned tournament angler, on-camera host and TV show producer. As a fourth-gen Florida native, Capt. Chris witnessed firsthand the destruction caused by Florida's water mismanagement leading him to co-found Captains For Clean Water. Capt. Chris' professional experience has positioned Captains For Clean Water to engage leading brands and personalities across the industry, collectively mobilizing the outdoor community to take action against water quality issues like never before. Capt. Chris identifies needs and opportunities to expand the organization's reach and impact through initiatives, programs, and partnerships, ultimately turning years of work on the water into his mission to save Florida's water.
