Hello Sasha,

Welcome to the April edition of our newsletter! In this issue, we're excited to bring you highlights on the myriad of endeavors undertaken by our dedicated committee members. From innovative initiatives to insightful discussions, we have been hard at work striving to advance the MBCEA goals and objectives. Join us as we delve into the latest developments, accomplishments, and plans for the future!

Most appropriate for next week, our Conference Committee; This year, we're experimenting with a fresh format, offering more flexible meeting times and emphasizing networking opportunities in a resort-style setting. Looking ahead, our aim for next year is to return to a more urban venue, complete with specialized training sessions tailored for your field teams.

Marketing and Membership Committee; a thank you to Behlen, VP, Butler, Nucor, American, and CECO as they all generously provided booth space for MBCEA at their respective event, where numerous MBCEA members enthusiastically volunteered to be ambassadors! These booths facilitated great conversations, resulting in a wave of new member sign-ups.

The MBCEA app is gaining momentum as the go-to platform for tapping into our membership's wealth of knowledge. Have you downloaded the MBCEA app yet? No time like the present!

Additionally, quarterly New Member Roundtables led by Sasha showcase the full spectrum of benefits our membership offers.

Our Technical Committee is diligently working on multiple position papers, addressing key metal building system industry issues. We've established a streamlined process for members to request approval to utilize aerial lifts for lifting wall sheets safely. MBCEA's active participation in MBMA's Technical and Research meetings underscores our commitment to collaboration on matters crucial to contractors and erectors.

As an association we thrive on member involvement. The Nominating Committee is the path to be an active part of our board. Presently the Board is comprised of dedicated members, but we're always eager to welcome new faces. We encourage interested members to engage with committees and local chapters, allowing us to better understand your potential contributions.

In closing, the collective efforts within our committees have yielded significant progress and strengthened our association in numerous ways. By fostering innovation in our conference formats, expanding our membership outreach through effective marketing strategies, tackling technical challenges head-on, and nurturing leadership potential through our nominating processes, we continue to build on a robust foundation for continued growth and success.

As we look ahead, let us remain steadfast in our commitment to safety, collaboration, excellence, and service to our members and the broader community. Together, we can continue to advance our shared goals and reach new heights together.

Sustainable Design in Metal Buildings

5/16/24, 12 pm ET

Register for this Virtual Session

The term “sustainability” means different things to different people as I have discovered over the past few years. For project designers, it typically involves renewable energy, recyclable materials, and controls that reduce consumption; but for contractors, it is about not losing opportunities due to cost, schedule, and quality. What if I told you it takes a balanced approach to both viewpoints to remain relevant and competitive in the ever-changing construction markets?

This 1-Hour webinar is intended to explain how metal buildings are perfectly suited to embrace future building technologies and keep us on the cutting edge of low-rise commercial construction.

AC472 & AC478 Accreditations for Improving Quality and Success in Metal Building Design and Construction - Weds., May 22, 2024

The AIA Amarillo and Fort Worth Chapters are hosting IAS and MBCEA panelists to provide architects with an overview of how the AC472 and AC478 accreditations for metal building design, fabrication and construction can be used to complement the building process. It will provide an in depth look at what is included in the accreditation process and why it is important for the safety and quality of the building. This program will outline why accreditation is important and can benefit the architect.

Please share with architects you work with in the area.
