Carolina Metal Building Technology Achieves AC478 Accreditation

Carolina Metal Building Technologies, Inc. headquartered in New London, North Carolina and servicing the Carolinas and surrounding states, now holds the prestigious AC478 accreditation administered by the International Accreditation Service (IAS).

"In a highly competitive industry where many others offer similar services, this accreditation sets us apart from most," remarks Dan Carney, President of CMBT Inc. "The AC478 accreditation is the way we are able to demonstrate our commitment to the highest standards of Metal Building assembly. This accreditation serves as proof and not just our own claims of excellence. It gives us a clear edge when we bid for work and helps us to stand out to clients, general contractors, designers and those who are looking for top level and dependable partners."

For more information about the IAS AC478 accreditation program and Carolina Metal Building Technologies Inc., visit mbcea.org.
