

LAW ENFORCEMENT NIGHT AT FEED MY STARVING CHILDREN

Feed My Starving Children is a non-profit organization that provides food for starving, malnourished and hungry people around the world. The meals are assembled by volunteers.

Bloomington Police Chief Booker Hodges is inviting you to join him in turning hunger into hope by packing nutritious meals for hungry children around the world. To entice you even more, we are making this a competition. There are three packing locations in Minnesota. We would like to fill all three of the locations with Law Enforcement and their families. We will compete between the three locations to see which location can fill the most boxes of food.

It's a two hour commitment that makes a SIGNIFICANT impact. Family members can join as long as they are over 5 years old. We need as many volunteers as possible.
