

MICHIGAN SOCIETY OF HEALTH-SYSTEM PHARMACISTS

Michigan Residency Programs

Brought to you by the Michigan Society of Health-System Pharmacists Residency Committee

Residency programs are available to train pharmacists in professional practice and management activities. There are many benefits to participating in a residency program, including enhancing patient care and management skills, learning how to teach and precept students, participating in pharmacy projects, developing leadership skills and gaining better understanding of global issues that affect the profession. Another important benefit is the significant advantage to be gained by working with some of the most innovative pharmacy practitioners and leaders in this country. These practitioners can often expose the resident to state-of-the-art practices they never thought were possible. Residents gain confidence, enhanced problem-solving abilities, and improved communication skills. Residency serves as an important stepping-stone in developing your professional career.

Explore the following residency programs available in Michigan. Be sure to visit the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists website or residency program websites indicated for additional information.
