Ken Boyer Presented with the NACCU 2020 Distinguished Service Award

Phoenix, AZ – May 7, 2020 – NACCU is proud to recognize Ken Boyer from Mercer University as the recipient of the NACCU 2020 Distinguished Service Award, sponsored by ASSA ABLOY. Jim Primovic, Director of Sales at ASSA ABLOY, presented the award during the virtual NACCU 2020 Awards Ceremony event on April 27, 2020.

The Distinguished Service Award is presented annually to an individual who has advanced the industry, exhibited entrepreneurial spirit, is an active member of NACCU, is actively involved in R&D, and who is active in the industry through serving on advisory boards and/or actively educating through presentations and sessions.

“I am humbled to be your NACCU 2020 Distinguished Service Award recipient,” said Ken. “We have a motto here at Mercer – Everybody majors in changing the world. And I think that’s so true of us at NACCU. What we do on our campuses helps change and impact our students and their lives for the future.”

Ken Boyer has been an incredible asset to NACCU. He has led and participated in many presentations and educational programs over the years. He continues to mentor and guide many of the talented leaders within our industry today. He is a wise counselor, a standard bearer of integrity, and highly respected in our field. As a servant leader who always shines the spotlight away from himself, while promoting the development of others, he has consistently been out front in the development of programs that will help our members continue to thrive for years to come. Ken has served on numerous NACCU committees, on the Board of Directors and as NACCU President, and currently serves as the NACCU Conference Chair. He also served as chairman of the Executive Director Search Committee that hired current Executive Director Dawn Thomas. During his tenure on the board, he helped to strengthen a solid foundation for NACCU to stand on to explore new initiatives. He does not shy away from new technology on his campus and is always more than happy to share innovations with others and provide guidance and support to other campuses. Ken strongly believes that NACCU is a family and he is always striving to make new connections and to nurture those he has made. NACCU would not be where it is today without this individual and his enthusiasm, forward thinking, and visionary leadership.

NACCU and sponsor ASSA ABLOY congratulate Ken Boyer as the recipient of the NACCU 2020 Distinguished Service Award in recognition for his outstanding leadership, service and tireless efforts on behalf of his university, our association and our industry.
