Submitting an NAGC 2026 Convention Proposal

1 Navigate to https://www.abstractscorecard.com/cfp/submit/login.asp?EventKey=RYJXRHSV

The system will keep track of your progress, and you can return as many times as needed before the deadline to edit, add, withdraw, or revise your submission.

PROPOSAL AND PRESENTATION LIMITS
You may submit up to 3 proposals as the lead presenter. In the final program, an individual can participate in up to 3 presentations. This rule does not apply to NAGC Signature Series or Network Super Sunday Sessions which are invited presentations developed by the NAGC Convention Program Chair or Network Program Chair. It does include Poster Sessions.

PROPOSAL DESIGN AND ABSTRACT
The NAGC Annual Convention aims to present the most high-quality, relevant, and timely content for participants. Sessions are organized into 16 Different Network Strands and 1 NEW Strand: Growing Talent in the Gen Ed Classroom. We encourage potential presenters to review the descriptions to find the best match for your proposed session. Proposals require the following components:

1. Indication of intended Network (see network descriptions)

2. A title and 60-word description that describe the session content to convention attendees.

3. A 250-word, more detailed description to support proposal evaluation. This description should include more information such as background evidence underlying the session, connections to standards, knowledge and tools that participants will engage with and take away, and/or applications for a specific audience. We encourage direct reference to the NAGC PreK - Grade 12 Standards and/or to the literature supporting the session. Parenthetical citations are encouraged, but full citations are not required.

4. Responses to a few additional questions regarding intended audience, session format, and level of NAGC has made equity and serving diverse students a priority. Proposal submissions that focus on equity and include information about, or educational strategies that address, traditionally underserved populations of gifted students are strongly encouraged.

Alignment with NAGC's Strategic Plan and Gifted Education in Wisconsin
We encourage alignment of conference proposals with important goals of the NAGC Strategic Plan, Strategic Plan Document. specifically Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion; Connecting Research and Practice; and Advocacy. We also encourage proposals that will be of specific interest to educators in our host state of Wisconsin. Gifted education professionals in Wisconsin have provided a document which may help guide proposal submitters as they prepare their submissions. Possible Session WI focus ideas.

PROPOSAL REVIEW
Expert reviewers from the NAGC Networks conduct blind reviews using the Proposal Rubric which is accessible on this site prior to submission, and new and revised for 2026. Please take a moment to review the rubric. Network Program Chairs and National Convention Committee members finalize the selections to ensure the process is fair, balanced, and broadly representative of the field. You will receive notice via email in mid-May 2026 regarding the status of your proposal submission(s).

Network Strand Descriptions

Arts
The Arts Network welcomes proposals about educating those who are gifted and talented in the arts, connecting educational theory, research, and practice in arts disciplines such as creative writing, dance, media arts, music, theater, and visual arts. General examples of appropriate types of proposals include (1) strategies and resources for identification, teaching, counseling, coaching, and mentoring gifted and talented children and youth in the arts, (2) approaches that increase equity and access to advanced arts education opportunities for underrepresented groups, (3) arts integration models that include arts learning objectives and benefit the learners gifted in the arts, (4) talent development models and their application to the arts.

Computers & Technology
Network presentation should help teachers, schools, and parents leverage technology to create optimum environments and learning opportunities for gifted learners. The network would like to offer sessions that span the continuum of audience needs from beginners to more technologically savvy participants.

14 Once Selected, Click "Submit"

programs serving gifted and/or talented populations. Review criteria include the theoretical soundness of the concepts presented and significance and applicability of the ideas to promote the mission of the Special Schools and Programs Network.

STEM
If your proposal is concerned with issues relevant to STEM Education, you may choose to submit your proposal for consideration. Proposals that are deeply ensconced in theoretical and pragmatic concerns in STEM and Gifted Education typically receive the highest ratings.

NEW: Growing Talent in the Gen Ed Classroom
Gifted children spend much of their time in general education classrooms where teachers often have little or no specialized training in identifying and serving students of high potential. This strand seeks to extend understanding of gifted education and gifted children to a specific audience: general education classroom teachers. Share strategies, practices, and pedagogies that teachers can employ in the classroom to ensure positive outcomes for all students.

16 Make a selection on the format of your presentation. There are details of each to help you decide. Select an option.

Concurrent Session
Individuals or groups of presenters apply to present their research or practice to the NAGC audience (primarily classroom teachers, gifted coordinators, administrators, researchers and parents; 45% are first-timers) under an appropriately chosen Network (view the NAGC 2026 Network Program Focus Descriptions).

Speed Session
A brief 30-minute session.

Poster Session
Visual representations of a project or idea are displayed on poster boards that are typically 4 feet tall by 4 feet wide. Individual(s) present a brief explanation for 10-15 minutes that summarizes their work. Depending upon the flow of the audience the presenter(s) may need to repeat this summary. Topics that lend themselves to this format include research projects or innovative teaching strategies.
