PRESS RELEASE

Chickens (and visitors) benefit from local boys' generosity

A couple of local City of Golden boys independently came up with some ideas to replace the chicken feeder which was stolen from Clear Creek History Park earlier this season. Kaden Hamilton, 9 years old and Andrew Labosky, 4 ½ years old, spent their personal time to raise money, running a lemonade stand, for example, and donated the raised funds to the Golden History Museum.

EDITING CHALLENGE

Your assignment is to tell the story (filled with poultry puns) of Kaden and Andrew's love for chickens and their reason to raise money to replace the coin operated feeder at the chicken coop in the History Park. The script, sound bites, voice over, all clips, (optional music, sound FX, graphics) and interview timecodes are provided, but you can use your creative judgement to tell the story differently, make it shorter and/or change the script as desired, you can also go "punless" if you wish.
