

NJLA Presenter Policy

The New Jersey Library Association believes all employees of New Jersey Libraries have a vested interest in supporting their state association. We also believe the benefit of presenting on a topic at an NJLA event in front of one's peers, attending other programs at the event and taking advantage of networking opportunities provides considerable value and professional development.

Therefore, all presenters who are employees of a New Jersey library are required to pay for registration for the event at which they are presenting if they plan to attend any other part of the event. If a presenter is not registered for the event, they may only attend the component of the event at which they are presenting. They may not attend any other programs, special events or meal functions.
