

Building the Future of NSCP Together

Hello, over the past few months, we've continued moving from planning to action as we bring NSCP's 2026–2028 Strategic Plan to life.

One of the priorities I shared earlier this year was our commitment to listening first. I'm pleased to say our member listening tours are now well underway, and I have been incredibly encouraged by the thoughtful participation and candid conversations we've had so far.

Our members have generously shared what's working well, where they see opportunities for growth, and how NSCP can continue evolving to meet the needs of today's – and tomorrow's – compliance professionals. Thank you to everyone who has participated. Your feedback is already helping shape how we think about the future of our organization, and I look forward to sharing more about what we've learned in the months ahead.

Another important part of our strategic plan is ensuring NSCP continues to serve the compliance professional of the future. That means not only delivering the education, resources, and insights our members need, but also creating meaningful ways for them to share their expertise and help shape the future of our profession.

That's why I'm excited to invite you to explore the many ways to get involved with NSCP through our new Volunteer Engagement Form.

Whether you're interested in serving on a committee, contributing to a working group, writing for NSCP, supporting our events, meeting with regulators, or simply finding new ways to give back, there continue to be opportunities for members at every level of involvement. Even if you've volunteered with NSCP in the past, we ask that you complete our new Volunteer Engagement Form so we can better align your interests, expertise, and availability with our organizational needs.

Volunteer applications are open through August 17, and I encourage you to consider getting involved. Our members are the driving force behind everything we accomplish, and your perspectives, experience, and leadership help make NSCP stronger.

As we look ahead to the fall, I also hope you'll join us at the 2026 NSCP National Conference this October in Orlando. More than our largest educational event of the year, the conference is an opportunity for our community to come together to exchange ideas, strengthen professional relationships, and learn from regulators and industry leaders as we navigate an increasingly complex compliance landscape. It reflects exactly what our strategic plan is designed to support: educating, connecting, and empowering compliance professionals.

Thank you for your continued engagement, your thoughtful feedback, and your commitment to this community. Together, we're building an organization that is well positioned to serve compliance professionals today and for years to come.

I look forward to continuing this journey with you.
