PATRICIA M. BRICKLIN STUDENT ETHICS AWARD

The PPA Ethics Committee has instituted the Patricia M. Bricklin Student Award which is given to a graduate psychology student who is a resident of Pennsylvania or who is attending school in Pennsylvania who produces a meritorious work product dealing with ethics or law in psychology. The submission may be a formal paper, but it may be another work product such as a copy of a presentation to the class, analysis of vignettes, ethics diary, or other product that demonstrates considerable sophistication in understanding ethical rules or principles. Submissions may be from a single author or multiple authors. For more information visit www.papsy.org/EthicsAward.

The award is named after the late Patricia M. Bricklin, PhD, a prominent ethics educator, PPA member and long-time member of the Pennsylvania State Board of Psychology, who did much to promote ethics education in Pennsylvania and nationwide. Since 1994, more than $12,000 has been distributed through this award.

The Pennsylvania Psychological Foundation sponsors this $1,000 award, which is determined by the Ethics Committee and will be presented during the PPA2026 Virtual Convention which will be held on June 14-20, 2025. Also, the award winner(s) will be offered the opportunity to write an article for The Pennsylvania Psychologist.

Want to contribute to the award? The Patricia M. Bricklin Award is financed through contributions made to the Pennsylvania Psychological Foundation.
