2) No one except the angler may touch the rod, reel, line, or double line (if used) after the fish has been engaged and while the fish is being fought. Engaged shall be defined as the time at which the drag is engaged (engage the drag lever on or close the bail). No one except the angler who engages a fish may touch that rod. In the event of multiple hookups on separate lines being fought by a single angler, all fish being caught shall be accepted for weighing. A fish shall not be fought from a rod holder. However, in the case of multiple hooks up, the angler may use a rod holder for its intended purpose.

3) There will be no weather days. The Captain is ultimately responsible for the crew and should make decisions as to safe sea conditions for the vessel. All participants in the tournament enter at their own risk.
