

The 12th Annual SHLB Conference

SPONSOR TODAY!

AnchorNets is the ideal platform to elevate your company's leadership and brand in the broadband market. Schools, libraries, telehealth networks, and broadband companies attend from around the country to engage federal and state policymakers and understand how to make billions in annual government funding work for them. AnchorNets is the place where broadband policy and innovation connect.

Showcase your leadership and brand throughout this important forum.

ATTENDEES

More than 350 participants representing schools, libraries, research and education networks, state broadband offices, ISPs, commercial leaders, and E-rate and rural healthcare experts from across the country.

ABOUT SHLB: Headquartered in Washington, D.C., the Schools, Health & Libraries Broadband (SHLB) Coalition is a nonprofit, 501(c)(3) organization whose mission is "for every anchor institution in the country to have affordable, high-quality broadband that serves the needs of the institution and is open and accessible by the surrounding community."

As a mission-driven advocacy organization, SHLB works with anchor institutions, the broadband industry, and policymakers at every level of government to promote programs and policies that advance the deployment of high-quality and affordable broadband networks across the U.S.

OUR MEMBERS: The SHLB Coalition's strength comes from its diverse membership, which includes anchor institutions, commercial companies, nonprofit broadband providers, foundations, public interest groups, state broadband offices, and others. SHLB members collaborate to develop policies that improve broadband access, affordability and adoption for anchors and their communities across the country.
