Welcome to the TAM 2024 Annual Meeting

Welcome to the Texas Association of Museums 2024 Annual Conference in Lubbock! We are thrilled to gather the TAM community in Lubbock, a City that has seen remarkable growth and fostered a thriving arts and cultural scene. Our conference coincides with the conclusion of the revered Lubbock Arts Festival, a perennial highlight recognized as the Best in Texas for three consecutive years. What better way to launch our gathering than on the heels of such a celebrated event?

Lubbock holds a special place in the annals of TAM history. Our conference theme, “Expanding Horizons: Illuminating our Cultural Tapestry,” pays homage to this journey, drawing inspiration from the city’s legendary sunsets and the collaborative spirit that defines its cultural landscape.

We extend our overwhelming gratitude to our host institutions: The Museum of Texas Tech University, the National Ranching Heritage Center, Science Spectrum, LHUCA, and the Silent Wings Museum. Their gracious hospitality provides the perfect backdrop for our collective endeavors, fostering collaboration and camaraderie.

On behalf of TAM, we extend a warm welcome to Lubbock! Let’s collaborate and grow together here at TAM 2024.

Cheers,
Brittany Petrilli

TAM Mission & Vision

TAM Mission

The Texas Association of Museums strengthens the Texas museum community through collaborations, connections, professional development, and advocacy.

TAM Vision

TAM serves our museum community by nurturing and training museum leaders, developing and celebrating the field, and voicing the public worth of museums.

TAM Core Values

We educate our members as to best practices in the field.

We provide opportunities for our members to connect and learn from each other.

We empower our members to become leaders in the field.

We strengthen Texas Museums.

We recognize excellence.

We advocate for the important role of museums.

We stand in solidarity against racism, white supremacy, marginalization, and oppression against communities of color.

9M+ / 6 COLLECTIONS
OBJECTS

In the last 95 years, the Museum of Texas Tech University has established itself as a leader in preservation and education for the Southern High Plains. We are committed to serving the community through six collecting divisions and a range of exhibitions and public programs. Objects in the Museum's collections totaled more than 9.5 million. Each one tells a story about the region, the people and creatures who have lived here over the centuries.

The Museum is a non-profit institution with free admission and complimentary parking.

Connecting Museums to Students Around the World

Videoconferencing can break down barriers of time, distance, and expense by connecting people around the world in real time.

Connect2Texas.net is the key destination for public/private/charter/home schools and even retirement communities to find educational content enhancement programs aligned to state and/or national standards. Submit registrations and "connect" for unique learning experiences.

- Established in 2006 for Texas-based providers only
- Reputable website, brand, and listserv
- Centralized management system designed to market your programs, take registrations, send email confirmations, and gather billing information
- Technical assistance available before, during, and after programs for your museum and the connecting schools
- Annual fee with various membership levels available

For more information about how to become a Connect2Texas provider, contact Lori Neckar at c2tx@esc11.net or 817-740-7516.

Welcome to Lubbock!

Home to a vibrant culture, rich history and a thriving culinary scene, Hub City is the crossroads of culture in West Texas!

From tributes to rock 'n' roll legend Buddy Holly to First Friday Art Trails in the designated cultural arts district and wine tastings across the region that grows 85% of Texas wine grapes, there's no shortage of things to do during your stay in Lubbock.

Luckily, transportation in the Hub City couldn't be easier. No matter how you get around, Lubbock boasts an average commute time of 20 minutes from any point in the city, making sure you are on time for every item on your itinerary from conference activities to after-hour attractions.

Visit Lubbock is thrilled to extend a warm West Texas welcome to the Texas Association of Museums. We hope your time here is filled with engaging discussions, memorable experiences and the legendary hospitality that defines our community. Enjoy your stay and let Lubbock's charm leave a lasting impression.

Proud exhibition design and multimedia collaborator on the National Ranching Heritage Center's Ranch Life Learning Center.

Go, Hank!

10th lubbock lights: angela strehli | apr 18, 2024
the first lady of texas blues

Please bring your TAM pass to the Allen Theatre for free admission.

7:00 PM | TTU'S ALLEN THEATRE

Lubbock-born & raised blues singer and composer Angela Strehli is an avid student of the blues and a blues historian. In addition to her own performing career she was devoted to helping manage the legendary Antone's club and record label. She produced her own records and also recorded with Stevie Ray Vaughan, Marcia Ball, Lou Ann Barton, and in more recent years Elvin Bishop, Tommy Castro, Joe Louis Walker, just to name a few.

"Ace of Blues confirms the Lubbock native hasn't lost her touch...the music here serves as satisfying comfort food for blues lovers and clearly attests to the fact that Angela Strehli can still deliver the goods...C.O.D."

Evaluative Thinking SPONSORED BY THE TEXAS HISTORICAL COMMISSION

Inez Wolins | Texas Historical Commission

Laureen Trainer | Trainer Evaluation

Evaluative thinking is a cognitive and analytical process that involves systematically assessing, analyzing, and reflecting on information, data, or experiences to make informed judgments, decisions, or improvements. What does that even mean???

It means being curious and asking why and then why again. It means being open about knowing what you don't know. It means uncovering and questioning your assumptions. It means actively seeking the voices of those outside of your institution. Then it means finding some answers! By talking, listening, adapting, and iterating. By going into the community and inviting the community in. Evaluative thinking means using that information to inform the design, story, and goals of your programs and exhibitions. And then wondering if you met your outcomes. And how your work impacted your visitors and community.

Evaluative thinking means all of that and then it means starting all over again with your next musing.

This workshop asks attendees to consider what questions you have about your programs, exhibitions, and institutions. What do you want to uncover? What do think you already know? What questions do you still have? Where can you go to find that information? And most importantly, what do you do with it when you get it?

6:00-8:00 PM | Opening Reception at Science Spectrum

Celebrate the opening night of TAM 2024, and welcome to Lubbock! We are kicking off the week at the Science Spectrum and Omni Theater with an immersive experience where science comes to life in exciting and innovative ways. Delight in tasty refreshments, interactive exhibits, and hands-on activities that ignite curiosity and spark imagination. Join us as we explore Lubbock's premier hands-on science and children's museum with fellow museum professionals from across the state!

Dial "D" For Disaster

Danielle Brissette | Magoffin Home, Texas Historical Commission

Laura Pate | TxCera

Mikey Sproat | Sam Houston Memorial Museum

Is your Emergency Plan flexible when it comes to all possible disasters? What happens when Storm Uri breaks your pipes at the newly renovated 1936 Texas Centennial Hall of State building and crushes your soul? What happens when a maniacal stranger breaks into the Historic Magoffin Home damaging art, breaking glass, and burning objects?

Colleagues from Texas Collections Emergency Resource Alliance (TX-CERA), museums, and other cultural institutions will take the mystery out of emergency plans and offer real life examples and practical advice. These examples will offer insight into what went right and what went wrong, including evidence from experts in sleuthing and security, conservation, and cultural crime.

Day 2 | Monday, April 15

10:00-11:30 AM | NRHC - Anderson Room | Concurrent Session
A Cotton Tale: How Two Local Museums Collaborated to Find a New Home for a 150-Year-Old Cotton Gin

Lacey Hoelting | FiberMax Center for Discovery

Jim Bret Campbell | National Ranching Heritage Center

The National Ranching Heritage Center and the FiberMax Center for Discovery both tell the story of agriculture, but what do you do when a large artifact is taking up valuable space and doesn't match your mission? Is there another institution that would benefit from adding the piece to their collection? Join two directors as they discuss how they collaborated on a unique project that benefited both museums, and learn a little history on the Goodman Cotton Gin originally built in Tyler, Texas, in 1875.

MELT (Museum Emerging Leaders of Texas) Roundtable - Resumes & Feedback

Jennifer Landry | Irving Archives and Museum

Kayte Ricketts | Bell County Museum

Madeleine Calcote-Garcia | Fort Bend History Association

Rachael A. Nadeau Johnson | Dr Pepper Museum

Your resume and cover letter are the first impression you make on any hiring professional, and it is important that they are effective! It is always best to keep your resume up-to-date and well-formatted, along with ensuring that your cover letter is well-written and specific to the position you are hoping to gain. Join us for this roundtable discussion where a group of hiring professionals will provide tips on how to best present yourself through cover letters, resumes, and CVs. Then, get a chance to sit down with these professionals for one-on-one feedback on your personal resume or CV. Learn valuable information that is applicable specifically to you through these intimate conversations with hiring professionals who can offer insight into how to make a lasting impression. These skills are transferable to all career decisions at a variety of levels. Bring several printed copies of your resume or CV for review. MELT membership not required to join this session; all are welcome!

Day 2 | Monday, April 15

11:30-11:45 AM | Networking Break

11:45-12:45 PM | MoTTU - Sculpture Court | Lunch and Keynote

Tricia Edwards, Deputy Director | Smithsonian Affiliations

At the Smithsonian, we're working every day to understand, explore, and solve some of the biggest challenges facing our world. And while we might be the world's largest museum, education, and research complex, we know we can't do this work on our own. That's where you come in. We are stronger when we work together, sharing content, resources, and expertise, and learning from and with one another. Come hear about how you can leverage the Smithsonian's resources for your community and how the Smithsonian benefits from your collaboration.

12:45-1:00 PM | Networking Break

1:00-2:00 PM | NRHC - Anderson Room | Concurrent Session Building Diverse Audiences

Kheli Willetts | Dira Professional Development

Audience engagement strategies that actively consider factors such as culture, language, age, ability, family and economic status are more inclined to attract and retain new and diverse audiences. For some, making these changes can be challenging and at times overwhelming, often leaving staff unsure where or how to start. In this interactive workshop we will discuss how audience diversity is traditionally/generally defined, reflect on how your institution's level of diversity, discuss strategies to diversify your audiences including how and where to begin.

Day 2 | Monday, April 15

1:00-2:00 PM | MoTTU - Kline Room | Concurrent Session Ask the Funders

Heather Hocker | The CH Foundation

Keralee Clay | Amarillo Area Foundation

With perspectives from local foundation representatives, this session will address the current climate for museums seeking funding from local foundations. While local foundations often support museums and other cultural organizations, how do you find the right match for your museum? How do museums and local foundations articulate their expectations for support and the benefit each receives? Discussion will answer questions such as how to establish and maintain a relationship with a local foundation and how to make the ask. Constructive examples of local foundation support for museums will also be presented. In addition, the session will allow time for Q&A.

1:00-2:00 PM | MoTTU - Sculpture Court | Concurrent Session M&M (Marketing/PR & Media) Roundtable

Kate Betz | Story + Reason

Alexis De Leon | Art Museum of South Texas

The M&M affinity group invites you for conversation and questions about all things marketing for museums. Whether you're a seasoned pro or new to the field, join us for roundtable discussions of issues from branding to setting campaign goals and budgets to content creation. A Platform for Refugee Voices: Community Building through Cultural Exhibit Design

Ryan Pennington, Ph.D. | Refugee Language Project

Wendy Taylor | Don Harrington Discovery Center

Malalay Ahmadi | Discovery Center

Learn about Don Harrington Discovery Center's journey building the IMLS-funded cultural exhibit "Beyond: Unity in Community" in Amarillo. Starting in 2021, DHDC began work with Refugee Language Project and local refugee communities to build a cultural exhibit featuring two different refugee communities to date: Myanmar (Karen) and Afghanistan. We will discuss community engagement strategies, share what we learned along the way, and engage in an interactive conversation about the importance of community building in museum work. Come curious and bring your strategies and questions to share!

Day 2 | Monday, April 15

2:30-3:30 PM | MoTTU - Main Gallery | Museum of Texas Tech University Basement & NSRL Tours

With perspectives from local foundation representatives, this session will address the current climate for museums seeking funding from local foundations. While local foundations often support museums and other cultural organizations, how do you find the right match for your museum? How do museums and local foundations articulate their expectations for support and the benefit each receives?

3:30-4:30 PM | MoTTU - Gallery 6 and Main Gallery Exhibitor Reception

Join us for an exciting event featuring networking opportunities with industry peers, and the latest services and solutions from our exhibitors. Make sure to visit each of the exhibitors for a chance to win a free registration to TAM's 50th Anniversary Conference in 2025.

The Art of Social Engagement: Co-creating with Communities through Institutional Collaborations

Gina Otvos | South Texas College

Melissa Terry | South Texas College

In March 2023, South Texas College received a grant from Humanities Texas for a talk by founding Guerrilla Girl (Käthe Kollwitz). The “Uproar! The Art of Social Engagement” workshop turned exhibition was held at the International Museum of Art and Science. Community members created artistic campaigns for social change on surrounding walls and facilitated a discussion about public art, social responsibility, and community building. The resultant exhibition remained displayed in the main gallery, and museum visitors were invited to add to the conversation. The presentation aims to showcase the role of the museum and college in promoting community conversations and elevating local voices.

10:30-11:30 AM | MoTTU - Kline Room | Concurrent Session
Transforming the Vault: Insights and Challenges for Collections Inventory and Renovation

Rachael A. Nadeau Johnson | Dr Pepper Museum

Robert Tidwell | National Ranching Heritage Center

Samuel Rieta | Mayborn Museum

Zach Loflin | Dr Pepper Museum

Two museums with diverse collections ranging from artwork to cultural collections, and everything in between, will go in-depth on their experiences with inventory and renovation. The Dr Pepper Museum completed an inventory of a collection on repository and is in the process of a NEH grant-funded renovation of their collections storage. The National Ranching Heritage Center relocated its collection when separating from another museum and rehoused its Quanah Parker Collection during a renovation.

Through these case studies, attendees will learn practical tips and tools for project management, streamlining inventories, maximizing efficiency, handling collections renovations, working with grants, and processing previously unmanaged or mismanaged collections.

Museum educators: looking for an opportunity for ideas and advice in a more informal, one-on-one format? Join us for an idea exchange/expert advice in a variety of educator interest areas—speed-date style! TAMEC membership not required to join this session; all are welcome. Participants at this year’s Educator Roundtable will spend 10 minutes or less in small-group discussion of each of the following:

- Safe and inexpensive gallery activities.
- How to develop a memory-care program for senior adults?
- What type of programs are homeschool co-ops searching for?
- Sensory sensitivity programs—idea-share(steal).
- Scouting badge partnerships—where to begin and is it worth the work?

11:30-11:45 AM | Networking Break

11:45-12:45 PM | MoTTU - Sculpture Court | Lunch and Keynote

Kaitlyn Armendariz, Impact Manager | Meow Wolf

While it’s not uncommon to find purpose-driven businesses, it’s rare to find an organization with impact so deeply rooted into its very fabric since the beginning. Since the early days of art-making in warehouse spaces and dumpster diving for trash to create beautiful expressive maximalist creations, we believe in bringing people together in community and generosity.

Meow Wolf strives to make a positive difference – by transforming participants through mind-bending, imaginative experiences. By hiring artists and supporting creatives. By building spaces where everyone feels like they belong. By treading lightly on our planet. By operating with integrity.

Join us for a conversation with Meow Wolf Impact Manager, Kaitlyn Armendáriz as she looks at the ways in which Meow Wolf approaches Impact in Texas and how the organization grounds itself in the communities it operates in with a focus on adaptability and resilience.

Day 3 | Tuesday, April 16

2:00-3:00 PM | MoTTU - Kline Room | Concurrent Session Heritage on Tour: Expand Your Audience through Traveling Exhibitions

Autumn Lennartz | Humanities Texas

Mallory Laurel | Texas Historical Commission

Many museums and cultural institutions are interested in developing high-quality, compact, and affordable traveling exhibitions from their own collections and archives. Exhibitions of this scale allow an organization to reach a broader audience within Texas communities while raising awareness of the organization itself and its unique resources. This session, presented by Autumn Lennartz of the Humanities Texas traveling exhibition program and Mallory Laurel of the Texas Historical Commission Heritage Tourism program, will offer practical guidance for developing accessible traveling exhibitions.

The session is intended for museum representatives who are looking to establish, revitalize, or strengthen a traveling exhibition program. The presenters will discuss pros and cons of various display types, considerations for packing and shipping, and best practices for promotion, programming, and community engagement. Further, the session will examine the benefits of developing exhibitions that can accommodate non-traditional venues, such as libraries and schools, and how venues can utilize exhibitions to enhance their existing programs. Finally, the presenters will feature stories of individuals and institutions that have created traveling exhibitions and address common questions and problems that arise during production.

2:00-3:00 PM | MoTTU - Sculpture Court | Concurrent Session CMC (Collections Managers Committee) Roundtable

Wade Dillon | Freeport Historical Museum

CMC (Collections Managers Committee) Roundtable will be a group sharing, scenario driven session focusing on Accession-Deaccession 101, Environmental Monitoring in Historic Homes, and Responding to Natural Disasters. With the roundtable session lasting one hour, each topic will last 20 minutes each before rotating to the next station. Members are welcome to remain at stations that are most relevant to their interests. CMC membership not required to join this session. All are welcome!

Preserving the Past, Ensuring the Future: Exploring the Relevancy and Sustainability of Historic Site and Houses

Erik Swanson | Historic Waco

Rachael A. Nadeau Johnson | Dr Pepper Museum

Shae Nawoj | Log Cabin Village

Gary N. Smith | The Summerlee Foundation

Rowena Dasch | Neill-Cochran House Museum

How are historic sites and houses maintaining or growing their relevancy and sustainability? Using Gary Smith's Summerlee Report as a catalyst, the first portion of this workshop will look at Log Cabin Village, Neill-Cochran House Museum, Dr Pepper Museum, and Historic Waco to see what efforts they are making towards their relevancy and sustainability in their communities and beyond. The second part of this workshop will open the discussion of relevancy and sustainability to attendees. Through case studies and group discussions, attendees will come away with practical takeaways to bring back to their historic sites and houses.

3:15-5:45 PM | MoTTU - Classroom 5 | Workshop

Inexpensive Garment Mounts or How to Alter What You Have For Displaying Historic Costumes SPONSORED BY SIEBLER, INC.

Melanie Sanford | Conserving Threads

Displaying historic costumes is a great way to tell a story as well as showcase material culture from a collection, but these three dimensional objects can be tricky to display. This workshop will be a mixture of lecture and hands-on experience. In the first hour, both store-bought and museum grade display forms will be discussed.

Explanations of best practices and both temporary and permanent altering suggestions for display mounts will also be discussed. The final portion will offer attendees the option to play with Fosshape, a museum grade fabric for making temporary display mounts. Attendees will leave with an example of an outer display shell that can be placed upon a store-bought or museum grade display form for dressing historic garments. Attendees will have the option to bring a display mount from their own collection to build off of or use one of the display forms made available through the workshop.

Narrative Development: Finding Story within Collections

J. Maisie Duncan | National Mounted Warrior Museum

Kayte Ricketts | Bell County Museum

Mikaela Young | Bell County Museum

Sherry E. McDowney | National Mounted Warrior Museum

Everyone loves a good story. Story is foundational in how we process the world and internalize information. It helps us relate, empathize, and learn. So how can museums harness the power of storytelling techniques to help our visitors do just that? Where do we start? And what does that look like for different departments and museum functions?

Join staff from the Bell County and National Mounted Warrior Museums to discuss how they work with narrative concepts, challenges they have faced, and how each department approaches creating cohesive themes and through-lines. This participatory workshop will provide practical and actionable take-aways that explore theme, storytelling techniques, and the relationship between narrative and education to fuel your museum's interpretation goals.

King Hollis | Southroad Pictures
Lindell Singleton | Southroad Pictures
Lynn Rushton Reed | City of Dallas, Office of Arts and Culture

RISING: The Hall of Negro Life tells the story of unflinching courage by Black men and women who challenged the Jim Crow, Depression era South to create space for their story at the 1936 Texas Centennial—and altered the direction of Civil Rights in the United States.

Premiering on PBS, "RISING", is an intimate portrait of a time in America where sustainable change demanded devastatingly courageous acts.

The 26 minute film and the subsequent Q&A offer a robust discussion environment as the power of visual storytelling injects excitement and pathos into seemingly forgotten threads of history.

From Foundation to Center: Revitalizing Historic Flower Hill for a Modern Community

Michelle Stewart | Flower Hill Center

Natalie George | Flower Hill Center

Flower Hill, a Historic twelve room house on 1.38 acres in central west Austin, is on a journey from family home to House Museum and Community Center. Flower Hill Foundation was created in 2016 after the last living heir passed. Now, 2 years from our 150th anniversary, we made the choice to transition to a public non-profit. Join us as we look at what it means to be a 150 year old start up. Explore the strategic shifts and creative programming concepts that propelled this evolution. Learn from our journey as we discuss challenges, successes, and the vision for a dynamic community hub. Discover how Flower Hill is embracing change to enhance its relevance and impact in preserving heritage while enriching community connections.

Merging College Readiness with a Cultural Institution

Pamela Morales de Hendricks |

Jonathon Vasquez | GEAR UP

The Museum of South Texas History and

Vanguard Academy, a local charter school in South Texas, partnered in 2022 to host the first-ever Vanguard Family Day. This four-year partnership is supported by a GearUp grant awarded to Vanguard Academy. School officials decided to refocus their college readiness strategies and use the Museum of South Texas History, a historical and cultural institution, as a backdrop to bridge college readiness between parents and their children who may become first-generation college students.

In a small sampling in 2022, many families were impressed that Vanguard Academy and the museum were able to provide free admission to Vanguard families. Many families felt a stronger connection with the charter school, and also realized that learning about their own past, or where they live now, connects to self-discovery and their place in the world. Many children in South Texas leave to attend universities or colleges outside the area and face challenges in adjusting to a new culture—since many never had the opportunity to learn about themselves at school. But, a history museum provides a safe space to learn about who they are and why they are the way they are.

Day 4 | Wednesday, April 17

Beyond Object-Based Interpretation: Utilizing Digital Media in Indigenous Exhibits SPONSORED BY IDEUM

Angie Glasker | Bullock Texas State
History Museum

Mel Tamporello | Bullock Texas State
History Museum

Ricardo Quezada | Ysleta del
Sur Pueblo

The Bullock Texas State History

Museum recently collaborated with the Ysleta del Sur Pueblo on two digital media projects for the Museum's core history exhibitions — adding Southern Tigua to an existing Native languages and landscapes video and creating a short documentary about the Tribe's deep ties to Texas. In this session, Curator Angie Glasker and Head of Web and Digital Media Mel Tamporello from the Bullock Museum and Ysleta del Sur Pueblo's Director of Cultural Preservation Rick Quezada will discuss their experiences working on these projects from both sides of the table. They will delve into the unique opportunities and challenges of collaborative projects with external stakeholders from Native Nations, emphasizing the importance of cultural awareness and sensitivity in producing media initiatives that honor Tribal traditions and narratives and ensure the end result benefits both the institution and the Native Nation. Quezada will also pull from his experiences working on projects for his Pueblo's Cultural Center as well as with other cultural institutions. The session will also explore why digital media is a useful tool to provide accessible history, connect with marginalized communities, and provide a platform for people to tell their histories and stories in their own voices. Attendees will leave this session with practical strategies for developing mutually beneficial licensing agreements and interpretive content, establishing relationships with Tribal representatives, creating inclusive project plans and goals, maintaining open communication, fostering ongoing relationships beyond project completion, and implementing the final piece in your institution.

11:30-11:45 AM | Networking Break

Day 4 | Wednesday, April 17

11:45-12:45 PM | NRHC - McCombs Main Gallery | Lunch and Keynote

James Watkins | Ceramic Artist, Professor, Author and Texas State Visual Artist 3D | JCW Clayworks

With photographs, James will discuss how ancestral memories and memories of travels, teaching, and how experimenting is essential to his creative process. He will share how the Southwest environment has influenced and inspired the forms and surfaces of his vessels.

12:45-1:00PM | NRHC - McCombs Main Gallery | Closing Remarks

Interested In Becoming A TAM Councilor?

Are you passionate about advancing the museum field? Consider becoming a Councilor for the Texas Association of Museums (TAM). Our council is a community of museum professionals dedicated to promoting the field's best practices and policies in museum management.

As a Councilor, you'll have the opportunity to connect with other industry experts, share your knowledge and experiences, and contribute to shaping the future of the museum industry in Texas. If you're interested in becoming a Councilor, please stop by our registration table to speak with a current member of the TAM Council, learn more about TAM and TAM's leadership, and fill out our nomination form. We look forward to meeting you and hearing about your passion for Texas museums!

In Memoriam: Nadine McKown

The TAM community mourns the passing of Nadine McKown, a beloved member of the Texas museum community. McKown was the Executive Director of the Museum of North Texas History and formerly served as the Site Director for the Kell House Museum in Wichita Falls. Active in several Affinity Groups through her time at TAM—including Historic Sites and Houses, Museum Emerging Leaders of Texas, and Inclusivity, Diversity, Equity, and Access—she was awarded the 2022 Museum Emerging Leaders of Texas Affinity Group Scholarship. Her contributions, commitment, and leadership within the Texas museum community will be remembered with deep appreciation and lasting respect. We honor her legacy and are committed to carrying on her important work.

proudly supports

The Arts Community

Civic Lubbock, Inc. is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization established in 1956. Our mission is to foster and promote cultural, educational, and entertainment activities that include visual and performing arts. How do we do that? With revenue generated from concessions sales in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center and Moonlight Musicals Amphitheatre, along with the operation of Select-A-Seat, Civic Lubbock provides grant funding for many events and organizations that apply.

Ongoing projects Civic Lubbock supports include:

- Annual "Lubbock Music NOW" album
- West Texas Walk of Fame inductions
- Public art acquisition on city-owned property
- Lubbock's Storm Drain Art Project
- Summer Showcase Concert Series at the Buddy Holly Center
- Lubbock Moonlight Musicals
- Lubbock Arts Festival
