

Chlorine Institute Outreach Newsletter

Connecting you to the latest in chlor-alkali training, safe handling guidance, and emergency response resources.

March 2014 • Edition 1

Welcome & Naming Contest

Welcome to the first edition of the Chlorine Institute Outreach Newsletter! This short quarterly newsletter will feature articles about upcoming (FREE) training events, informational sessions, resources available to you, and tips on how to safely handle, store, and transport chlorine, caustic, bleach, hydrogen chloride, and anhydrous hydrogen chloride. It's a lot of useful information, but the newsletter title is too long. Have an idea? Send it to Info@CL2.com for the chance to win a prize.

Upcoming Emergency Response Training Events

March 11-12, Albuquerque, NM

March 12-13, Charlotte, NC

March 25-26, Phoenix, AZ

April 9-10, Salt Lake City, UT

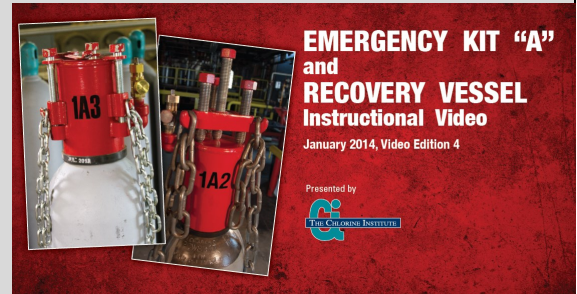

April 15-16, Gettysburg, PA

July – Sept., W. Canada

New Emergency Kit "A" & Recovery Vessel

Video Available on YouTube!

The latest version of the Emergency Kit "A" instructional video, with details on how to install the A-Kit on 150- or 100-lb chlorine cylinders is now available on YouTube. It is about 27 minutes long. The A-Kit was redesigned in 2013 and there are now two versions available for mitigating releases. Both versions will stop a leak and this video presents how to use both kits and compares the differences of the two kits. The video also covers how to use the recovery vessel for cylinders. To view it, click here.

The Chlorine Institute and TRANSCAER® Training Events

The Chlorine Institute has a long-standing partnership with TRANSCAER (Transportation Community Awareness and Emergency Response) and sponsors many training events around the US and Canada. For more information, please visit www.transcaer.com.

A typical FREE One-day Training Includes:

- Hands-on workshops and classroom instruction on chlorine properties, rail safety, and emergency kit application
- One-on-one training opportunities with emergency response professionals
- DVDs containing all presentations, plus additional videos and reference materials
- Complimentary lunch
- Certificates upon completion