

LOCATION:

The United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) campus consists of multiple buildings, anchored by the Madison Building, and is located at:
600 Dulany Street, Alexandria, VA 22314

THRiVE 2024 will take place in the North Clara Barton Auditorium, located on the lower level of the West Madison building, which is identifiable by its soaring central glass atrium joining the east and west sides of the building.

Note that if you enter the Madison building from the south, off Eisenhower Avenue, the stairs at this entrance lead you down to the lower level. If you enter from the north main entrance, off Dulany Street, at street level you must go down one level once inside.

GETTING THERE:

The USPTO is conveniently located just off the I-495 Beltway and is easily accessible by various modes of public transportation.

Driving:

Use this street address for navigation:

USPTO Madison Building, 600 Dulany Street, Alexandria, VA 22314

Parking:

Parking is available at USPTO's East and West parking garages at rate of $10 per day. The WEST GARAGE is located at 550 Elizabeth Lane and the EAST GARAGE is located at 551 Carlyle Street. Both garages offer stairways that will take you directly down to the lower-level atrium inside the Madison Building.

Public Transportation:

Metro - The USPTO is a short walk from both the King Street Metro station (yellow and blue lines) and the Eisenhower Avenue Metro station (yellow line only) and is served by Metrorail and Metrobus services. See the WMATA website for more info.

Amtrak - Amtrak trains make stops at the Alexandria Union Station, which is located next to the King St-Old Town Metrorail Station, between Duke and King Streets.

VRE - The Alexandria Union Station is also served by the Virginia Railway Express (VRE).

Further directions are posted on the USPTO website.
