Women in Aviation International Giving Circle

The Women in Aviation International Giving Circle is made up of diverse, dynamic, and inspiring women and men who strongly believe in working toward gender parity across every facet of aviation and aerospace.

The Power of Collective Giving

Through the power of collective giving, members of the WAI Giving Circle have a unique opportunity to give flight to the programs that support women in aviation and aerospace around the world. Together, this group pools their donations to provide a greater impact than each might have been able to accomplish alone. WAI's Giving Circle is a great way for you and your colleagues to make a difference together.

How to Give

To join the WAI Giving Circle, each member makes a recurring monthly donation of $100, which equals a $1,200 annual pledge. All donations collected by the end of each year from WAI Giving Circle members will determine the amount of funds designated to a particular WAI program.

WAI Giving Circle members convene twice a year. Every December, the group meets virtually to discuss the merits of programs presented to them as identified by the WAI board as having the greatest need. WAI Giving Circle members then vote to select the program that will receive funding. The group meets again for a purely social gathering at the WAI annual conference to learn about the impact of their support and to strengthen the bonds of their new-found friendships.
