

Sophie Gervais

GE HealthCare Supply Chain Strategy Manager

Sophie is Leading Supply Chain Strategy development across business to enable Growth. She is also facilitating complex programs.

She leads the Supply Chain strategy development for multi-Segments opportunities to enable Growth / Ebit, facilitates complex multi-organization programs and ensures to improve the processes and op models.

She has over 20 year experience in Supply Chain, working in other companies before joining GEHC 14 years ago, succeeding in different roles (manufacturing Engineer, manufacturing ops leader, lean leader, material manager)

Sophie is a Black Belt and has lead changes & driving improvement on processes and also organizations operating models.

She is a leader who focuses on people empowerment & accountability.

Education: Electronic Engineering school - Microwave frequency (IFITEP – in apprenticeship)

Areas of Expertise: Leadership skills – Black belt - Employees development– Operational mindset – Empowerment – Transformation & Change Management