

Fatima BAKHTI

Program Director, Nokia

Fatima is a professional leading complex program in Industry and committed to solve societal issues. Currently, she is a Delivery Program Director in Telecommunications at Nokia.

As an engineer with a PhD, in a multicultural context, she has successfully carried out responsibilities in research, development, manufacturing, services and business transformation. She has led technical projects, as well as complex cultural change projects aiming at improving experience and well-being of employees at work.

She was recognized in 2019 Best women of project, “Trophées des Femmes de L’industrie” in France.

Education

University of Sciences et Technology of Lille - PHD in physics

Engineering school – Phelma, Grenoble France

Volunteer Work

President of "Femmes Ingénieurs» French Association of Women Engineers

Invested into the local community to support CEOs of small and medium size companies to grow.

Areas of Expertise

Telecommunications products and solutions

Teams and Program Management, change agent.

Research, development, manufacturing, services, maintenance, transformation.